

App State – where transfer students succeed

Looking to transfer to App State? You're in good company, and you'll find support to help you succeed. One in four students at App State is a transfer student, whether they come from a community college, a four-year institution, the military or years spent in the workforce.

Transfer Admissions and Engagement supports transfer students at all stages – advising and planning, transferring credits and organizing ways for transfer students to meet each other, engage with faculty and get involved in campus life.
